THIS SPRING
AT THE LIBRARY!

FROM THE DIRECTOR'S SHELF

You count in NC! Why the 2020 Census matters!

The U.S. Constitution requires a count every 10 years of EVERY person living in the United States. An accurate count is vitally important to North Carolina and Henderson County as Census data determines:

- ⇒ Number of congressional seats
- ⇒ Amount of federal funding received annually
= $1,828 per person
- ⇒ Planning for resident needs including schools, emergency services, food assistance, housing assistance, library services and more

Census results directly impact libraries by determining how much Library Services Technology Act (LSTA) funding will be available on an annual basis. These grant funds are allocated to libraries across the state to enhance services, collections and staff knowledge. Henderson County Library has been awarded over $175,000 in LSTA funds over the past few years to implement RFID technology, join the NC Cardinal consortium, add titles to our collections and allow staff to attend training throughout the region.

RESPONDING TO THE 2020 CENSUS IS EASY, SAFE, AND IMPORTANT.

Beginning in mid-March individuals can respond:

- ◆ Online using a computer or mobile device
- ◆ By telephone
- ◆ By completing a paper questionnaire

Stop by any Henderson County Library location for more information, free access to public computers and free WiFi. Check out a book. Then respond to the 2020 Census. The census is your chance to help shape the future of Henderson County and North Carolina.

TECH TIME AT ETOWAH AND FLETCHER

Tech Time appointments are free one-on-one sessions with a library staff member to help with any of your technology questions. Whether you need help downloading an app, sending an email, or downloading ebooks from one of the library's free services, library staff can help!

Don't let that nagging technology issue bother you any longer! Call the Etowah Library at 891-6577 or the Fletcher Library at 687-1218 to schedule an appointment.

Christian assists an Etowah patron with a one-on-one technology session.

Kathy enjoys helping Fletcher patrons download books and use library apps.

WILDFLOWER HIKE AT HOLMES EDUCATIONAL STATE FOREST

Join the Etowah Branch as they take participants out of the library and into the forest. "I thought instead of looking at a slideshow about wildflowers, why not see them in person?" said Karen Bryant, Branch Manager. When Karen approached the rangers at nearby Holmes Educational State Forest about partnering to offer a wildflower program they were enthusiastic about the idea.

The hike, led by NC Forest Service Rangers, will be a moderate walk through a highly diverse cove forest that boasts a beautiful array of wildflowers. Participants will be able to identify early spring wildflowers as well as learn fascinating facts and uses these plants provided early inhabitants.

Participants will meet at the welcome kiosk at Holmes Educational State Forest on Thursday, April 23rd at 3:00pm. To register, please call the Etowah Library at 891-6577. Wear comfortable shoes and dress for the weather.

SPRING AUTHOR VISITS

Celebrate Spring at the library with new books! The Main Library will host visits from authors Jennifer Nielsen, Ann B. Ross, and Susan Zurenda. The programs are free and open to the public.

JENNIFER NIELSEN
MARCH 17, 2020

Jennifer Nielsen is the author of The Ascendance series, the Traitor's Game series, and the historical novels, Resistance, A Night Divided, and Words on Fire. Jennifer will be visiting students at Rugby Middle School during the day and speaking at the Main Library the evening of March 17th at 6pm. This program is presented in partnership with Henderson County Public Schools and the Friends of the Library.

ANN B. ROSS
APRIL 14, 2020

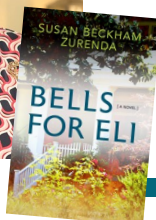

Hometown author Ann B. Ross debuts her latest novel about Miss Julia and her friends and family, Miss Julia Knows a Thing or Two, at the Main Library on April 14th at 5:30pm. Mrs. Ross has been a full time writer since the publication of Miss Julia Speaks Her Mind in 1999. Join us in the Kaplan Auditorium for a friendly author talk and book signing.

SUSAN ZURENDA
JUNE 1, 2020

South Carolina author Susan Zurenda releases her debut novel, Bells for Eli, this spring. To introduce you to her work, she will present two sessions at the Main Library on June 1st. The first will be a lecture-style writing workshop entitled "Family Stories: Evoking Emotion in your Characters" at 2pm. Susan will then present "The Small Town South in the '60s" at 6pm. Susan Zurenda taught literature, composition, and creative writing to high school and college students for 33 years at Spartanburg High School and Spartanburg Community College. She has won several regional writing awards for her short stories.

NOVEMBER 12— The World Made Straight by Ron Rash

REGIONAL ROUNDUP

In this column we feature books and authors with regional appeal to Western North Carolina and more broadly, with a strong sense of place in the Southeast. Place any of these on hold at the library through the NC Cardinal catalog.

In the gritty thriller Blackwood by Michael Farris Smith, Mississippi kudzu is a curtain obscuring something menacing and eerie to a junkyard sculptor. In The Bramble and the Rose by Tom Bouman, danger intensifies as the leads get hotter for a small-town cop investigating a headless stranger found in the local woods. For a supernatural fairy tale that's been compared to contemporary southern classics like Jesmyn Ward, Daniel Woodrell, and Wiley Cash, pick up a gothic horror novel where a sheriff and preacher are not the good guys in The Boatman's Daughter by Andy Davidson.

For a sweet holiday romance, Christmas Angels by Nancy Naigle involves a winning auction bid on a country inn located about 2 hours west of Charlotte. As an agritourism holiday murder mystery, Apple Cider Slaying by Julie Anne Lindsey is part of the Cider Shop Mystery series. Laura Childs' Charleston Tea Shop Mystery series flows from a hunting mishap in Lavender Blue Murder, and continuing the Blue Ridge Library Mystery series, a small town librarian is called to serve when a skeleton is discovered at a local farm in Bound for Murder by Victoria Gilbert.

In two especially local new books, a woman haunted by dreams depicting crimes rekindles an old flame to stop the real-life killer in Leanna Sain's romantic thriller Hush, and Rosman's Pisgah Astronomical Research Institute is the hook in Mark de Castrique's private eye novel Murder in Rat Alley. A new North Carolina series begins in fictional Swann County with an ex-military investigator looking at crimes and character drama going back decades with A Dredging in Swann by Tim Garvin.

A handful of top picks for this season are a forthcoming book about an exotic wildlife sanctuary run by veterans by North Carolina author Taylor Brown called the Pride of Eden, and a suspenseful read for fans of Jodi Picoult called Wildland by Rebecca Hodge in which a wildfire causes a family to flee their Blue Ridge Mountain getaway. Therese Anne Fowler writes about a clash between neighbors and values in North Carolina's suburbs in A Good Neighborhood, and local author Mark Powell has a literary thriller with themes hauntingly similar to current events playing out between Ukraine, Russia, and the United States with Firebird. In Wilmington's Lie, David Zucchino reframes a lesser-known event from North Carolina history as a coup that aimed to counter the rising political power of African Americans in the decades following the Civil War. I am currently enjoying a book of short stories set mostly in Appalachia by Michael Croley called Any Other Place, but for anyone curious about the literary heritage of the region, I would encourage you to check out Step into the Circle: Writers in Modern Appalachia, edited by Amy Greene and Trent Thomson for a survey in words and pictures of notable authors.

Thanks for reading!

StudentAccess

FERNLEAF JOINS STUDENTACCESS

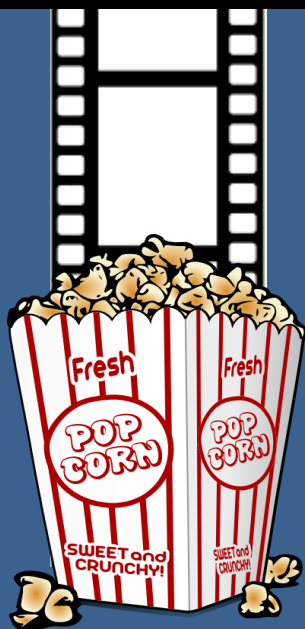

The StudentAccess Program is a partnership between Henderson County Public Library and Henderson County Public Schools. New this year, Fernleaf Community Charter School has also joined in this partnership.

Through the program, all Henderson County Public School and Fernleaf students and teachers automatically have a free account with the library.

Students simply provide their student ID numbers to checkout books and audiobooks at any Henderson County library location. Students can also access databases, eBooks, and digital audiobooks from anywhere, 24/7.

The library has partnered with the Art League of Henderson County to present art exhibits from January through June this year. In March, the display will feature Miniatures. Stop by the Main Library to check out these tiny works of art! Coming in April, the travel photography of Valerie Klevan will be on display.

Enjoy a FREE afternoon at the movies at the Main Library.

Patrons with hearing devices equipped with a telecoil (t-coil) can use the Kaplan Auditorium's Hearing Loop to take advantage of the full experience.

Those without a t-coil can borrow a listening device for FREE. Ask staff for details.

IMAGINE YOUR STORY

SAVE THE DATE FOR SUMMER FUN AT THE LIBRARY!

This year our Summer Reading program will be from June 1st—August 1st.

Families are invited to a Kick Off Celebration on Wed., May 27th at 4pm!

Henderson County Library has partnered with the NC Arboretum to bring ecoEXPLORE to the library. ecoEXPLORE stands for Experiences Promoting Learning Outdoors for Research and Education. Children in grades K-8 can participate by being citizen scientists and earn prizes. The Main Library is an ecoEXPLORE Hot Spot, where participants can make and share observations at our birdfeeders and wildflower garden. The Arboretum also offers programs at the library throughout the year to promote the different observation seasons. Coming soon, you will be able to check out special ecoEXPLORE backpacks to help with your observations!

Check out the ecoEXPLORE website at www.ecoexplore.net for more info.

LIBRARIES TRANSFORM

National Library Week is an annual celebration highlighting the valuable role libraries, librarians, and library workers play in transforming communities and improving lives. The library is a place where all people are welcome regardless of age, interests, or background. Today's libraries strive to develop and maintain technology, programs, and collections that are as diverse as the populations they serve.

Our library embraces the entire Henderson County community, offering a varied array of resources to provide opportunities for personal growth and lifelong learning. From ebooks to technology classes, job-seeking resources to materials for English-language learners, literacy learning to musical entertainment, the library has something for everyone. The library is a place to explore passions, discover new interests, make connections, and provide solace in a time of crisis. During National Library Week, the library will be holding a Food for Fines drive, as well as other special programs for all ages.

Monday, April 20th -
Saturday, April 25th

Patrons can pay their existing overdue fines* with in-date,
non-perishable food items.

Each item will count as $1 toward the patron's account.

Sorry, food cannot be applied toward the cost of lost or damaged materials, debt collection fees, or account credit.*

REFERENCE RESOURCES YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT

Reference Librarian Mark Burdette will resume the Reference Resources You Should Know About classes this spring. Starting in May he will be demonstrating various reference resources available to patrons through the Henderson County Public Library. These classes are free, but space is limited so sign-up soon!

MAY 15, 10-11AM, MAIN LIBRARY, LEARNING LAB— 2020 Election Guide

This class will introduce patrons to the library's new 2020 Election Guide. This guide will help patrons locate objective, authoritative information about the upcoming elections. This includes information on national, state, and local elections, where to vote, how to register, and sample ballots.

JUNE 23, 10-11AM, FLETCHER LIBRARY— Law & Order: HCPL!

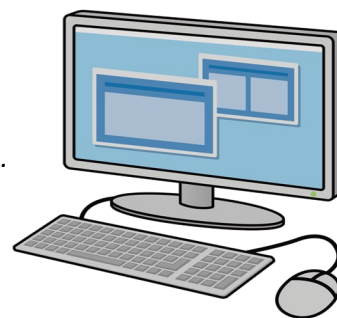

The demonstration will show patrons what online Legal Resources are available through the library including the Westlaw legal database, forms, and attorney finder.

JULY 15, 10-11AM, MAIN LIBRARY, LEARNING LAB— Journals, Magazines, and Newspapers at HCPL

This class will introduce patrons to the library's new Journals, Magazines, and Newspapers page where they can access full-text digital copies of periodicals, search databases for articles, and get listings of periodicals to which the library subscribes.

AUGUST 18, 10-11AM, ETOWAH LIBRARY— Genealogy and Local History Resources at the Library

Genealogy is a popular hobby among library patrons. This class will introduce the library's Genealogy and Local History guide to patrons. They will find links to genealogy research databases, local photographs, radio shows, and a bibliography of local history.

FRIENDS' BOOK SALE TO BE HELD THIS SPRING

The Friends of the Library – an all-volunteer organization that supports library programs and purchases books and many other materials – will hold a regional book sale in May. The spring 2020 sale will be on May 1st, 2nd, 8th, and 9th. The sale is at the Friends building at 1940 Spartanburg Hwy in Hendersonville (next to Dollar General).

The Friends raise almost $100,000 a year, mainly through book sales in May and September. Last year, we sponsored 130 programs and purchased 1,000 books for the library. We also bought tablets, AV items, materials for the Craft Club, and furniture and equipment such as chairs, security cameras, and shelf units.

The Friends have almost 1,500 members, and our membership increased in 2019 by 40 percent. We always need more volunteers, members, and donors. Please go to our website to learn more and be sure to see the video: fotl.info
